JAS. H. PRICE ELECTED NEW CITY CHAIRMAN

Succeeds Major Miles M. Martin at Head of Democratic Committee.

WILL HEAD NEW COMMITTEE

Nominee of Clyde Saunders Had 24 Out of 28 Votes Already Pledged.

Major Miles M. Martin resigned last night as chairman of the City Democratic Committee, and was succeeded by James H. Price, a member of the committee from Lee Ward, who was unanimously elected for the unexpired term after it had been stated that he had already twenty-four out of the twenty-eight votes pledged to his election as chairman in the newly elected committee. Major Martin had been chairman of the committee for the past four years, having succeeded James B. Doherty, in the recent campaign, because of pending local conditions and the stand he had taken on the annexation question, he was defeated for re-election, and announced his intention of retiring from politics at the close of his term.

Preparing for Primary.
The committee met last night to make preliminary arrangements for the State primary of August 5. After the ward superintendents had been authorized to name the judges and clerks and to secure polling places, Chairman Martin turned the chair over to John M. Price, who had been elected to succeed him. The committee then turned to the preparation of the primary, and the value of his services to the committee and to the party.

Saunders Nominates Price.
Clyde W. Saunders nominated Mr. Price as chairman for the unexpired term. Mr. Price was elected by a vote of 24 to 4. The committee then turned to the preparation of the primary, and the value of his services to the committee and to the party.

Before adjournment E. W. Evans and others spoke on the importance of selecting competent men for election officials. The time had passed, he thought, to give the place to some man merely because he needed the money. Men accustomed to being paid, he said, should be employed in order that they might be prompt and accurate returns, and the primary be held not only before the election, but before the election.

Had 24 Out of 28 Votes Pledged.
It has been known for several days that sufficient votes had been pledged to Mr. Price to elect him. The committee had been pledged to elect Mr. Price as chairman, but the resignation of Major Martin at this time was not anticipated. Clyde W. Saunders, who was elected as Vice-Chairman, and Walter G. Duke as Secretary, they being the two old war horses who have guided the committee through many changes. Mr. Price was elected by a vote of 24 to 4. The committee then turned to the preparation of the primary, and the value of his services to the committee and to the party.

TAKES $1,250 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Mrs. Charles C. Duling Gets Court's Permission to Accept Road's Offer.

Upon the application of Drucilla Duling, administratrix of Charles C. Duling, formerly of 626 Louisiana Street, Judge Crump, of the Law and Equity Court, yesterday entered an order authorizing her to accept the sum of $1,250 from the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company in full satisfaction of all claims against that road growing out of the recent injury and death of her husband.

The petition filed by Mrs. Duling set forth that her husband died on June 15, 1913, in the asylum for the insane at Columbia, S. C. Shortly before his death, it appeared that he received slight injuries while in the employ of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. As a member of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, he was entitled to a pension upon his life for $1,250, which became payable to Mrs. Duling upon his death. The relief department withheld the payment of the pension until the beneficiary was prepared to furnish a satisfactory discharge releasing both the railroad company and its relief department from further liability. The presence of a twelve-year-old son complicated matters and made it necessary for the widow to apply to the courts for authority to sign the release.

In her application to Judge Crump, Mrs. Duling stated that it was to her interest to accept the money in full satisfaction of all claims, since she had been fully satisfied that the railroad company could be held responsible for the death of her husband. Judge Crump entered the desired order designating her as the proper person to whom the money shall be paid.

VERDICT SET ASIDE

Jury Awards Jefferson $200 for Injuries Received at Brick Works.

Charles H. Jefferson, who was awarded $200 damages in the Henrico County Circuit Court for personal injuries received while working for W. J. Parrish, proprietor of the Filbert Brick Works, yesterday had his verdict set aside by the court. The case will probably come before a rehearing at the October term.

It appears that Mr. Jefferson, who was employed by Mr. Parrish, was told to repair a pipe fastened to the side of the pump-house at the brick works. The pipe was somewhat precariously fastened and when it was struck upon it, Mr. Jefferson fell, breaking his thumb and receiving injuries resulting in a lameness which has seriously incapacitated him since May 4, the date of the accident. He alleges that Mr. Parrish was aware of the dangerous condition of the pipe, and should have warned him.

Escapes Via Fire Ladder

The Investment of State Funds

To promote rural education is an investment which is as sure to bring returns as any other business project. This view of EDUCATION as an INVESTMENT needs to be considered by those who are apparently skeptical concerning the appropriations which the colleges are asking.

American National Bank,

BURY MAN UNDER NAME OF ANOTHER

Blunder is Made by Asylum Officials—Second Funeral This Afternoon.

In order that his remains may be laid to rest in the family plot in Riverview Cemetery, the body of Robert E. Gregory, buried on July 6 at Peninsula, Caroline County, through a terrible blunder, under the name of H. E. Covington, was disinterred yesterday afternoon and brought to this city. Funeral services will be held at the residence of Mrs. Randolph Street, this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The mistake which led to the confusion between the identity of a living and a dead man, was made at the State insane asylum at Williamsburg, where Mr. Covington and Mr. Gregory, both residents of Richmond, were received as patients the same day, July 1. Two days later Mr. Gregory died, and the family of Mr. Covington, in the person of his wife, Mrs. Randolph Street, notified and preparations were made for the burial. The body was shipped to Peninsula, and there on July 6 interred as that of H. E. Covington.

In the meantime, Dr. G. W. Brown, superintendent of the Eastern Hospital on July 13, in reply to a query concerning the condition of his patient, wrote Mrs. Gregory that her husband was greatly improved, both mentally and physically, and was at that time able to take his meals in the dining-room.

Mr. Covington, in the meanwhile, not aware of his supposed death, became worried at his family's neglect, and wrote to know why they did not visit him. Simultaneously with the approval of the insurance adjusters that the man for whom they were expected to pay several policies, was still living.

HITS HIGH SPOTS ON UPWARD JUMP

The hot wave which is hitting the country in the high spots set something like a tongue of flame over Richmond yesterday, and while the mercury swung around 84 degrees for an hour or more, the whole town sweltered. There was not much comfort in the thought, however, that it was weather, for the heat was not only in the air, but in the minds of the people.

BOARD'S AFTER STEEP SIDEWALK

Instructs Engineer to Examine Grade of Walkway at First National Bank.

City Engineer Bolling was directed by the Administrative Board yesterday to examine the sidewalk at the southeast corner of Ninth and Main Streets, and at the southwest corner of Ninth and Bank Streets, and to report on the possibility of improving the uncomfortably steep grade. The matter has been the subject of considerable comment since the completion of the First National Bank Building last year.

At the southeast corner of Ninth and Main Streets the sidewalk slopes down to the curbing at a particularly sharp angle. In slippery weather pedestrians are driven to the paved street for a passage. Business men in the neighborhood have repeatedly raised objection to the grade of the walkway, and the action of the board yesterday was taken with a view of solving the problem.

Superintendent Knowles, of the Gas Works, was authorized by the board to purchase an automatic governor from the Connolly Iron Works, of New York City, at a cost of $2,987.50, and a vertical centrifugal washer, at a cost of $6,200, from the Hestwood Company, of New York. The Building Inspector was instructed to issue electric sign permits to the Tarrant Electric Company, and to Murphy's Hotel upon the filing and approval of the proper plans.

JOHN GARLAND POLLARD

In answer, Mr. Cumming wired last night to Mr. Pollard at Roanoke, Va., as follows:

"Hon. John Garland Pollard, Roanoke, Va.,

"Absence all day has prevented earlier reply to your telegram. That you indicate that you are not a candidate for the primary is a matter of course. I am giving my views to the press and will mail to you, if your platform be enacted by the general assembly, I will seek to diligently enforce it officially. As a citizen, however, not seeking to legislate, I differ so essentially from your platform in so many particulars that I again invite a joint discussion next week.

"S. GORDON CUMMING"

Confirming this telegram, Mr. Cumming wrote to Mr. Pollard at Roanoke last night, enclosing the following statement of points on which his platform differs from that of the Henrico County candidate:

"I believe in pure elections, whether general, special or primary, but I believe that this result can and should be attained by proper enforcement of the existing election laws; and the Court of Appeals has so held.

RENEWS CHALLENGE FOR JOINT DEBATE

Commings, in Outlining Platform in Message to Pollard, Believes Enabling Act Is Unconstitutional—Politics in Schools,

Replying to John Garland Pollard in a statement of the differences which would form the basis of the proposed joint debate, S. Gordon Cumming, candidate for Attorney-General of Virginia, gives it as his opinion that the enabling act as passed in the General Assembly of 1912 is unconstitutional, and that the issue sought to be submitted to the people should be a referendum, such as is contemplated by the enabling bill of 1912, will be constitutional, but he believes, however, that the same issue sought to be presented unconstitutionally to the people by that bill may be lawfully submitted by the proposal of a constitutional amendment, upon and determined by the people as any other constitutional amendment. In a word, I believe that the people of the State have the right to determine this question.

"I do not believe that the so-called 'free system' should be completely changed. That the present system may be improved is true, but in making any change, regard should be had to the work and responsibility of the several offices, rather than to the titles.

Favors Speedy Tax Reform

"I heartily believe in the necessity for the speedy readjustment of our laws regulating the assessment of property and the collection of taxes therefrom. This, in my judgment, should be the paramount question for action by the general assembly.

"I firmly believe that a public school system should be absolutely divorced from politics, and I have never been able to understand why the committee on education in the last constitutional convention, of which committee Mr. Pollard was a member, should have deliberately involved our public school system in politics, making the Attorney-General, a political officer, a member of the State Board of Education."

CHALONER SHARE $55,535.35

Union Trust Company Files Delano Estate Accounting.

New York, July 18.—The Union Trust Company filed in the Surrogate's Court these trusts as John Armstrong Chaloner, Lewis Stevenson Chaloner, Winthrop Astor Chaloner, Elizabeth Winthrop Chaloner, Margaret Livingston Aldrich, Robert Astor Chaloner and Alida Beekman Chaloner.

The accounting of the Union Trust Company showed that January 15, 1913, the trust fund set aside for John Armstrong Chaloner amounted to $55,535.35. The seven other funds were within $2,000 of that amount. Chaloner, or Chaloner, as he now calls himself, was found incompetent in this State and recently applied for an appointment as guardian of his home in Virginia for an increase of the allowance he is receiving from this fund, which the court denied.

New Bank for Alexandria

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)—Alexandria, Va., July 18.—This city is to have a new savings bank, with a capital stock of $500,000, which will start operations December 1. Most of the capital will be borne by the North. Several well-known local men are also interested in the project. The names of those identified will be made next week.

WOMEN SHOULD BUILD HIGHWAYS

Miss Rittenberry Thinks They Are Better Memorials to Great Men Than Monuments.

The women of America, who are the greatest monument builders of the world, ought to direct their funds and energy to building memorial roads instead of monuments. This is the opinion of Miss Alma Rittenberry, of Birmingham, Ala., who is at the Jefferson Hotel. She is a writer who has published many articles on historic roads and trails, and while in Richmond she was making a study of the old Winchester Turnpike.

Miss Rittenberry is chairman of a committee of the Daughters of 1812, which has as its object the construction of a road from Chicago to New Orleans as a memorial to Andrew Jackson. It is planned to have each of the counties through which the great highway passes make a home issue and do its share of the work. She points out that such a road would be a much more fitting memorial to the great soldier and statesman than any monument.

Miss Rittenberry has traveled widely in the interests of the Andrew Jackson Memorial Highway, paying her way entirely by her literary work and by acting as agent for a monthly publication devoted to good roads. She has a fund of information about the old roads and trails of America, and knows all the interesting things that ever happened along the Santa Fe trail, the old Potomac Road up the Hudson Valley and the Natchez Trace, which Jackson converted into a military road.
